

BODYGUARD WILL PROTECT PEABODY

Gun Fighters With Governor on Tour.

TWELVE CRACK SHOTS THEY

Dressed in Citizen Clothes, They Will Mingle in the Crowds to Suppress Violence.

DENVER, Oct. 26.—When Governor Peabody left Denver on a campaigning trip through the State he was accompanied by the pick of the "gun fighters" of the Colorado National Guard.

This bodyguard consists of about twelve men. They are dressed in plain clothes and will scatter through the crowd wherever he speaks to suppress any hostile act against the governor, which some of his friends profess to fear.

Each member of the bodyguard is a crack shot. The State will be covered in whirlwind fashion.

Governor Peabody spoke in Colorado Springs last night, the banner Republican city of the State. His special train will leave Colorado Springs tonight, and the eastern part of the State will be covered first.

Governor Peabody will make his speeches from the rear of the special train, which is furnished in sumptuous style. The special train was not ready yesterday, but it will leave Denver this afternoon and the governor will board it at Colorado Springs.

WOMAN SUES HUSBAND FOR SEPARATE SUPPORT

Mrs. Susan E. King has begun proceedings against her husband, William J. King, for separate support and maintenance. Her complaint is that he did not protect her from the threats and abuse of her mother-in-law. After her marriage to the defendant, she says they went to reside with her husband's mother. Her mother-in-law, Mrs. King says, made life very unpleasant and often threatened her with violence if she did not leave the house.

In February, 1903, she says, the woman turned her out of the house.

Percy H. Veitch is counsel for the petitioner.

STUDENTS AT CLARK WANT TO "GET IN THE GAME"

WORCESTER, Oct. 26.—Under the presidency of Carroll D. Wright, the policy of Clark College has been to eliminate competitive athletics. This has not always pleased the students, and a mass meeting has been held and a resolution asking the faculty to remove this restriction was discussed. By a majority of four the resolution was adopted.

Another meeting to continue the agitation will be held soon.

FINDINGS ADVERSE TO BEEF TRUST

All Sorts of Lawbreaking Confirmed.

REPORT TO BE READY SOON

Facts and Figures All Gathered—Commissioner Garfield Declines to Talk.

Nearly all the facts and figures for the report which the Bureau of Corporations is to make upon the operations of the beef trust have been handed in. The work of compiling the report itself will be commenced in a few days.

Commissioner Garfield declines to discuss the reports. From other sources it was learned today that the report will be condemnatory in nearly all of its findings.

Illegal Offenses.
It has been discovered, it is said, that the trust has been blacklisting dealers all over the country for a number of reasons, some of these being refusal of the dealers to pay trust prices without complaint; that the managers of the plants meet weekly and fix the price that the cattle of the country shall pay for their meat; that on a number of occasions the trust or the men who operate it have "cornered" the markets for cattle, paying their own prices to the raisers and charging the consumers more than conditions justified, and that on occasions the trust has been able to influence certain railroads to discriminate in railroad freight rates against the "independents."

Investigating Old Struggle.
The bureau is making an exhaustive investigation, it is said, into the alleged attempt of the trust three years ago to destroy all large "independents" in the country, a struggle in which it is said all sorts of illegal acts were resorted to by the trust.

The report of Commissioner Garfield must be in readiness for Congress when that body meets a few weeks hence. It is said that Secret Service men as well as the regular agents of the Department of Commerce and Labor have been at work on the investigation.

FORMER EMPEROR GIVEN FREEDOM

Held Prisoner by France for Sixteen Years.

WILL WED BEAUTIFUL GIRL

Once Ruled Anam and Owes Downfall to Revolt Started in the Year 1885.

PARIS, Oct. 26.—With the consent of the minister of the colonies, the deposed Emperor of Anam, Ham-Nghi, who has been a prisoner of the French for sixteen years, left Paris a few days ago for Marseilles, en route for Algeria, where he will be married to his betrothed, Mile. Laloe, a charming young woman of about 20, who accompanied him.

The ex-emperor, who was for years detained in Algeria, made the acquaintance of the young woman some time ago, and fell deeply in love with her. His affection was returned, but her father, who is president of the Algerian court of appeal, objected to the match on the ground of her lover's color and religion. But the girl's tears finally overcame the opposition of her father, and the marriage was arranged.

Revolt in 1885.
Ham-Nghi, who is thirty-three years of age, owed his downfall to a revolt which he headed against the French in 1885, when General de Courcy's garrison was besieged in the palace at Hue and desperate fighting occurred.

Finally a relief force under Colonel Pernot scattered the rebels, and Ham-Nghi fled to the mountains of Kwangsi, where he carried on a guerrilla warfare against the French till 1888, when he was captured.

In the following year he was interned in Algeria with a pension of $1,200 a year, which on the occasion of his marriage will be increased to $3,200.

The ex-emperor is slight and delicate in appearance, with expressive eyes, an ivory skin and black, drooping mustaches.
